OUR HISTORY

The University of Media, Arts and Communication (UniMAC) was established by the University of Media, Arts and Communication Act 2020, (Act 1059). This merged the Ghana Institute of Journalism, established in 1959, the National Film and Television Institute, established in 1978 and the Ghana Institute of Languages, established in 1961, into one public university. The enactment was a bold step to fulfill a long-standing desire and advocacy by the constituent institutes to merge into a full-fledged University and improve on their extremely intertwined offerings to their students and academia.

The Act established the University as a holding university for autonomous institutes with a core mandate to provide higher education, disseminate knowledge related to the development of the media, arts and communication industry in the country, undertake research and foster relationships with persons outside the University through the following Institutes:

- i. An Institute of Journalism
- ii. An Institute of Film and Television
- iii. An Institute of Languages
- iv. An Institute of Theatre and Performing Arts
- v. An Institute of Institute of Digital Media Arts
- vi. Any other Institute, School or Centre the Council may determine.

GOVERNING COUNCIL

The Minister of Education in exercising his mandate inaugurated the Interim Governing Council for the University of Media, Arts and Communication on 10th June 2022. The Interim Governing Council was chaired by Prof. Kwesi Yankah and had a membership of six (6).

The Interim Governing Council, tasked with the duty to see to the operationalization of the University in December 2022 appointed the first Management of the University.

On Monday, 25th March 2024, a substantive Governing Council was inaugurated. It was charged with developing strategic innovative approaches to equip students with cutting-edge skills and knowledge to drive economic growth and meet the growing demand in the creative arts and related industries. In addition, it was tasked to expand the frontiers of the University by combining STEM and creative arts pedagogies in the fields of media, arts, and communication.

OUR LOGO

The Management Team in consultation with the Interim Governing Council on 19th December 2022 unveiled the University Logo to replace logos of the three constituent institutions.

The logo is tricoloured; burgundy which connotes passion, excitement, and confidence; mustard brown, representing reliability, support, and authenticity and prussian blue which stands for trust, relevance and authority. It incorporates three distinct Adinkra symbols to demonstrate African values and culture. The “Nkɔnsɔnkɔsɔn” is a symbol of unity and human relations, “Dame-Dame” signifies intelligence and integrity and “Akoko nan” represents nurturing or training and discipline.

VISIT LEBANON

SPEECH DELIVERED BY PROFESSOR ERIC OPOKU MENSAH

(ACTING VICE-CHANCELLOR) ON THE OCCASION OF THE 2ND CONGREGATION OF THE UNIVERSITY
OF MEDIA, ARTS AND COMMUNICATION, ACCRA

The Chairman and Members of the University Governing Council,
Your Excellency Maher Kheir, the Lebanese Ambassador to Ghana,
Our Guest Speaker, Dr Shirley Phyllis Owusu-Ofori, CEO of the National Blood Service,
Vice-Chancellors and officials from sister universities,
Rectors of Constituent Institutes,
Registrar and Campus Registrars,
Deans of Faculty and School,
Members of Convocation,
Other officials of our beloved University present,
Members of the Media fraternity,
My Esteemed Graduands,
Distinguished Guests,
Ladies and Gentlemen.

Let me take this golden opportunity to say a very good morning to all of you and officially welcome you to the South Legon Campus of the University of Media, Arts and Communication (UniMAC). Today presents us with another opportunity as a university to perform a significant academic ritual of rewarding and graduating our hardworking students. I can see from the colourful environment and all the beautiful faces gathered here today that, indeed, we are all geared up for the event. I am particularly filled with much bliss as this is my first congregation as the Acting Vice-Chancellor of our beloved UniMAC.

Prof Chair, our distinguished guests and our beloved graduands, even though our task here this morning is to celebrate a remarkable milestone in the journey of our esteemed graduands, please allow me to take the opportunity to say a few words about the status of our university and the vision driving it under my interim leadership.

We are all aware of the merger of the erstwhile Ghana Institute of Journalism, Ghana Institute of Languages and National Film and Television Institute that birthed our beloved UniMAC, and I am happy to report that through the clairvoyance of the University Governing Council as well as the Management and Staff and students of our beloved UniMAC, we have successfully surmounted some of the usual turbulences that are associated with every merger. While we celebrate our little success stories and the steady growth of a university with a very rich heritage, we are also working assiduously to resolve the other issues associated with the merger, such as operational and cultural integration, leadership and unit alignments, sustainable financial considerations and so on.

Prof. Chair, in my interim leadership as the acting Vice-Chancellor, the Management of the University, through the ratifications of the Governing Council, has promoted a number of staff, including a Professor, an Associate Professor and some Senior Lecturers. We have also raised our profile by transitioning Twenty-Nine (29) Assistant Lecturers to the Lecturer rank. I am also happy to report that some Thirty-Three (33) Junior and Senior Staff promotions that have been pending for years have all been concluded.

To today's graduation.

Prof Chair, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen, today's ceremony will see us graduate a total of Thousand Three Hundred and Three (1,303) graduands with Three Hundred and Eighty-Four (384) Males and Nine Hundred and Nineteen (919) Females.

Prof. Chair, our female graduands today represent a total of 70.5% out of the total number of graduates. Prof. Chair, I dare say that no public university in Ghana or even many other countries has achieved higher marks in affirmative action than we have. So, indeed, we are heralding a new dawn of equity and transformation of the Media Arts and Communication industry in Ghana.

And now, to you my graduands, I extend my heartfelt congratulations on reaching this significant milestone. Especially some of our international students who are graduating with us today. Let me make a special mention of Epie Nzohngandembou from Cameroon and Boro

Hamzah Yasaar Isia from Burkina Faso, who are all graduating from our school today but could not join us physically. I hope that wherever you are, you have enjoyed every bit of Ghanaian culture and that you have a lot of lessons to share with the rest of the world.

To all of you graduands, your hard work, dedication, and perseverance have brought you to this moment of achievement and celebration. Today, we honour not only your academic accomplishments but also your resilience, creativity, and potential to make a positive impact in the world.

As we reflect on your journey at UniMAC, we are reminded of the transformative power of education, the search for knowledge, and the pursuit of excellence. You have not only acquired valuable skills but also cultivated critical thinking, innovation, and a passion for lifelong learning.

In today's rapidly changing world, characterised by technological advancements, global connectivity, and complex challenges, the role of media, arts, and communication professionals has never been more vital. You are the storytellers, the creators, the communicators who shape narratives, inspire change, and drive progress.

I encourage you to embrace opportunities, embrace challenges, and embrace your potential to make a difference. Be bold in your pursuits, be compassionate in your interactions, and be resilient in the face of adversity.

As you embark on the next chapter of your lives, remember that your education at UniMAC has equipped you not only with technical expertise but also with the values of integrity, empathy, and social responsibility. Use your voice, your talents, and your skills to advocate for positive change, to amplify diverse voices, and to foster dialogue and understanding. My dear graduands, I urge you all to become the source of the news and not the news itself.

To you, faculty, staff, and families who have guided and supported our graduands throughout their journey, I extend my deepest gratitude for your commitment to moulding the next generation of media, arts and communication professionals. Behold! The fruit of your labour.

Prof. Chair, ladies and gentlemen, as I bring my speech to an end, it is my wish that we celebrate this momentous occasion with pride, optimism, and a sense of purpose. As our soon-to-be UniMAC graduates step into the world, remember that the journey of learning and growth continues. Be good ambassadors of our beloved UniMAC. After all, our success as a university will always rub on you, and your individual achievements as a graduate will always be connected to the reputation of our university. Congratulations once again, and may your future be filled with success, fulfilment, and endless possibilities.

Thank you.

PROFILE OF VALEDICTORIAN

(UNDERGRADUATE)

I began my basic education at Korle Gonno '3' JHS and proceeded to the Somanya Secondary Technical School, where I had my secondary education. I then had my professional diploma in database management at IPMC College in 2015, after which I enrolled in the Ghana Institute of Journalism in 2019 for a Diploma in Communication Studies.

As determined as I was, I proceeded to pursue a Bachelor of Arts in Communication Studies (Public Relations option) in the same Institution, now UniMAC-IJ. While at it, I've been working with the Accra Metropolitan Assembly as a Processing officer at the IT Unit. As a student, I took an interest in serving my colleagues and I participated in student leadership and became a member of the SRC Electoral Commission.

But beyond the confines of textbooks and knowledge gathering, I assume a character of compassion, empathy, and kindness which always draws my peers close to me. Guiding some of my peers through assignments and projects, I carved my niche and a path through the academic ladder which has brought me this far. Problem-solving, continuous learning, creativity and innovation propel me to grow.

PROFILE OF VALEDICTORIAN

(UNDERGRADUATE)

Life is a journey fueled by a constant pursuit of growth; else one stagnates and dies; a philosophy I have always lived by and applied in all aspects of my life from my childhood to this very auspicious day.

As a Christian, and an avid fufu lover, raised by Christian parents, I have learned to always, irrespective of how challenging a situation may seem, to always let God lead, give my very best and be grateful. These I believe are the values that have brought me this far and will propel me in the future, no matter how daunting.

The most important things in life are not things at all... They are moments

Live every moment to the fullest knowing that the people and things you love are Secured.

Richard Della
Strauss-Ashiaby

PROFILE OF VALEDICTORIAN

(POSTGRADUATE)

Richard Della Strauss-Ashiaby is a highly skilled Public Relations, Event Planning and Marketing Executive based in Accra, Ghana. With exceptional interpersonal, communication, and organizational skills.

Richard excels in managing complex activities and developing key stakeholder relationships. He is known for his creativity, innovation, and commitment to delivering high-quality events that promote organizational image and ensure value for money.

Richard's focus on excellence, attention to detail, and customer-centric approach make him a trusted and valuable asset in any team.

DR. SHIRLEY
PHYLLIS OWUSU-OFORI

PROFILE OF GUEST SPEAKER

Dr. Shirley Phyllis Owusu-Ofori is a Transfusion Medicine Consultant with wide experience in Blood Bank Management and Clinical Transfusion Medicine practice in Africa.

Shirley holds a BSc Human Biology and a Bachelor of Medicine and Surgery from the Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Kumasi. Her post-graduate training took her through transfusion fellowships in the East Anglia Blood Centre, Cambridge UK and the South- East Scotland Blood Transfusion Service in Edinburgh, Scotland. She attained a Diploma in Transfusion Medicine from the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh and is a Fellow of the Ghana College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Owusu-Ofori is a passionate individual who is driven by her quest for perfection as she strives in creating awareness and advocacy in her field of blood donations. A keen advocate and trainer in blood safety and safe transfusion practices with a special interest in improving survival outcomes in Maternal and Paediatric patients. Early in her career, Shirley won the International Society of Blood Transfusion Developing Country Runner-Up Awards (INDIVIDUAL) for 2012 and 2014 consecutively.

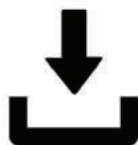

An active researcher for the past 22 years; she has over 60 peer-reviewed publications including Cochrane systematic reviews, along with contributing to several book chapters. As Principal Investigator, her latest Clinical trial demonstrated a reduction of incidence of disease (Malaria transmission) after pathogen inactivation of whole blood. This, which will ultimately improve the safety of blood received by many vulnerable groups.

She is an international speaker and has delivered a number of presentations on blood donor care, voluntary blood donor activity in Ghana, blood safety in resource constrained economies and safe transfusion practice amongst other topics in several countries.

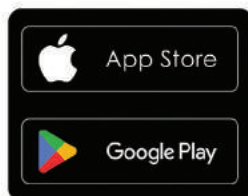

Dr. Owusu-Ofori is a member of the African Society of Blood Transfusion where she serves on the Transfusion Associated Infections Committee and the Research Consortium; belongs to the South African Cochrane collaboration and the Global Blood Safety Working Party of the International Society of Blood Transfusion. She is also the Regional Director for Africa of the International Society of Blood Transfusion (ISBT).

Dr. Shirley Owusu-Ofori is the current Chief Executive Officer of the National Blood Service, Ghana. She loves gardening and home baking and has a personal interest in interior décor of homes.
